INTRODUCTION: inflammation often initiates within the maxillofacial region, Case 1 At 15-9-09 visited the office with symptoms of facial Palsy left. Peritonsillar abscess is a common deep infection of the head and neck that occurs in Man age 52y. W:103kg/H:174 married the population. This infection begins as a superficial infection and progresses into tonsillar cellulitis. Early diagnosis of the abscess allows appropriate treatment to begin Medical history : Hospitalized at 7 till 9 Sep 2009 at Athens medical before the abscess spreads into the surrounding anatomic structures. Dental hospital. Diagnosis set as facial palsy left (peripheral type). Falling mouth infections were the most common cause of deep neck abscesses (49.1%). The corner left, Taste distortion-Inability to lift eyebrows left. Para clinical procedure for patients to received systemic antibiotics and in some cases surgical examinations : Blood analysis/ MRI / Rx/ electroencephalograph EEG/ drainage in the operating room is often required. Median and lower quartile of time in Triplex carotid/ CT scan-brain. hospital was 2 and 3 days, whereas upper quartile was 4 days (range, 1 to 27 days). The beneficial approach of homeopathy will be introduced through individual cases that have been recorded.

In each case the Aim was to set Diagnoses using the data acquired following intra and extra oral dental examination and complete homeopathic interview. The clinical findings and the subjective patients' symptoms were analyzed using RADAR 9 computer software which propose as a list of remedies that can cure the totality of symptoms. Repertorisation: allows as a precise differential diagnosis of possible homeopathic medicines through login of the symptoms, since Only one remedy can be prescribed for a reasonable amount of time according to the rules of classical homeopathy.

No pathological findings / Prescribed with: O tabl 2x2/day for 3days Medrol, Zantac 5 caps, Tears natural 2drops /2 hours.

The Method requires :I) Dental history II)Homeopathic history(birth till present). III) Symptoms analysis in their totality with additional literature. Use of computer software(Radar) to assist II & III IV)Clinical evaluation of the case& prescription followed with recall after one month.(minimum)

Conclusion: Homeopathy uses the symptoms in totality as obtained through the medical history to show up the right medicine, it works fine with rules and training standards set by ECH. Radiologists who are among the first to receive medical history, have the opportunity to inhibit the progression of inflammation into more profound structures and relief the patient, using more than 3 thousands recorded remedies in homeopathic literature since Hahnemann has discovered homeopathy back in 1810.
